

Academic Open Access Publishing
since 1996

About MDPI

MDPI (Multidisciplinary Digital Publishing Institute) is an academic open access publisher based in Basel, Switzerland, and was initially founded in 1996 to collect and preserve rare chemical research samples. To support the samples project, MDPI started the journal Molecules the same year.

Since 1996, MDPI has grown into a publishing house with over 160 diverse open access journals and over 4.2 million monthly page views and article downloads. With further editorial offices in Barcelona (Spain) and Beijing and Wuhan (China), MDPI is backed by over 12,800 editors worldwide.

All our content is open access, distributed under a Creative Commons License, and hence freely accessible to readers. We finance publication through article processing charges (APC), paid by authors and their institutions.

What MDPI Stands For

As a member of COPE (Committee on Publication Ethics), STM (International Association of Scientific, Technical, and Medical Publishers) and OASPA (Open Access Scholarly Publication Association), MDPI enforces rigorous peer-review and adheres to strict ethical policies and standards.

With 20 years of experience publishing in open access, we strive to serve the academic community. We maintain a rapid publication service and accepted articles are published online in 7–10 days. Our in-house copy-editing team finalizes accepted articles and we deliver all content to e-Helvetica, a digital collection of the Swiss National Library and CLOCKSS.
